

Chris came back to the breakfast table the next day.

He asked the seller: "Sorry, have the two monks been here today?"

"Which two monks?" He asked.

Chris was a little confused: "Well, the two guys with whom I discussed this for so long yesterday"

"Yesterday you sat all day alone at the table and talked to yourself", the salesman shook his head demonstratively.

Chris doubted his sanity, but if he freaked out now, things would only get worse.

That project was dead for him.
